WASH 411 BROADWAY

President Maso, of the provisional Cuban government, has issued a proclamation to the Cuban army announcing the end of the war through the assistance of the United States and urging upon the Cubans the task of making Cuba worthy of the friendship of the United States.

Fernando Freyre, auditor general of the Cuban government says that the Cubans will not lay down their arms until an independent government has been established, and will also oppose any American occupation after the Spaniards have evacuated. Senator Freyre says he is confident from the correspondence between Senator Palma and the Cuban minister, that the Cuban president McKinley that the United States will recognize the Cuban government and will recognize Cuba as a free and independent nation.

The vote in committee was a tie, so Wallace was sent for. He voted to give the inventor the $40,000, and, accordingly the bill went through.

This happened along toward the end of Wallace's term, and when he went home to strive for reelection he found that the news concerning his action on the Morse telegraph appropriation bill had preceded him. A man named William Brown, who afterwards became prominent in congress, had been nominated by the democrats, and he was conducting a vigorous campaign.

"In those days joint stamping tours were customary, and the two candidates came from place to place, showing their views on the various port At Once.

Most of the soldiers who were here on furlough have returned to Lexington, and those who are here without leave of absence are all back in camp except Al Waintry.

Saturday night one of the runaways received a telegram from Capt. B. B.
Davis ordering him to report at Lexington at once, with all the other boys, and be there in time to participate in a grand review under Gen.
Brookbridge today, under penalty of severe punishment if they failed.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Thieves Run Away From The

there, and she called them to the door.
A bucket was found around under rear window, where they had attempted to get in.

WARREN AGAIN.

The Thermometer Bears Into The Nineties.

The highest point reached by the thermometer yesterday was 92 degrees, which rendered it very unpleasant to be out. There was a good attendance at the churches however, and the evening was quite pleasant. The lowest point reached today was 61 degrees.

CALLED MEETING.

The School Board to Meet Tonight to Take Up School Matters.

There will probably be a called this evening at the city hall, to take some action relative to the crowded condition of some of the schools, and to hear a report from Supt. Katter-john through the building committee.

The call will likely be issued this afternoon, and when the board acts, provision will be made to relieve the crowded condition of the schools.

PECULIAR POISONS.

GENERATED IN THE HUMAN BODY.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germ of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of decay and death (called by medicals "Pneumonia"), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakness, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sudden mass which ferments (like a first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak, and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches and pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion irritates the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ and every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and indigestion, but in the nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Harley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and peptogenic products; the most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure every form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, a bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents each single package or by mail enclosing price to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
but ask your druggist first.

H. Houston took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from his late residence at Fifth and Monroe streets, services being conducted by Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, of the First Presbyterian church. The pallbearers were: Geo. Book, W. S.
Greer, J. H. Barrett, Eli G. Greer, H. E. Thompson, J. E. Williamson, J. L. Belknap and Joe T. H. Greer.
The interment was at Oak Grove.

SPEAK AT PRINCETON.

Candidates Wheeler and Reeves Open in Caldwell County.

Candidate Wheeler and Reeves for congress in this district, speak at Princeton today. Mr. Wheeler went on the train this morning, and Mr.
Reeves was doubtless already there.

With this debate Mr. Wheeler's regular campaign opens, and there will be joint debates from now until the election.

EMERY WHEEL BROKE.

An emery wheel burst at the furniture factory this forenoon, and a fragment of it struck Max Field, a workman, in the jaw, painfully injuring him.

Other parts of it flew in different directions, but, fortunately, none of them struck any of the other workmen.

DIED AT FORT THOMAS.

A dispatch reached the city this morning addressed to C. E. Brown, Miss. Ky., a small settlement in the county, stating that his son had died in the hospital at Fort Thomas, and saying what to do with the remains.
The dispatch was sent out, and no informing further is known of it.

Congressmen.

A Memphis traveling man just in from a trip to interior Mississippi points brings a copy of a letterhead used by a country merchant in a remote district. It reads as follows:
"Blank & Co., dealers in furniture, hardware, groceries, drugs, coffee, tobacco, snuff, fruits, dry goods, millie-rie, candles, soap, rider, vinegar, groceries, needles and threads, clothing, hats, caps, boots, shoes, country produce bought and sold, agents for the life insurance company, will also take your measure for 'tailor-made suits, lively stable in connection.' And then in parentheses "Mrs. Blank takes boarders."

The drummer sets he expects to find the enterprising Blank & Co. selling steamboats on his next visit to Memphis Scimitar.

Naming the Family of Bismark.

Prince Bismark's ancestors lived in an ancient castle on the River Riese, near Rindell, in the margravate of Brandenburg. It was a fortress that protected the boundary line of "Marca" which was formed by the river. So the family chose the name Bismark.

tion will be held at Wheeling, Va., next Wednesday.

Capt. Fred Dippold, of the tow-boat Dick Fulton, has a record of the most lost during the year ending September, 1898, between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. It totaled 49 barges, and 27 coal boats. These were a total loss. Sixteen of these coal boats were lost in storms, and 8 coal boats by high water. It was the most destructive year the coal operators of Pittsburgh ever experienced.

The local pockets for the last two months have been greatly depleted by fog, and other impediments; also an annual amount of way business.

Business very dull here today in river circles.

Steamer Sunshine passed up this afternoon from Memphis for Cincinnati.

The Bob Dudley left for Clarksville at 11 a. m. today with fair business.

The marine ware and Paducah dry docks will continue doing a big business, and have all the work they can do with more in sight.

The City of Paducah passed out of Tennessee river yesterday with a big trip for St. Louis.

The Joe Fowler arrived this afternoon from Evansville, and departed on her return trip at 3 p. m.

Col. Will S. Hays, Kentucky's past laureate and Louisville's marine bard, came out last Sunday in a broad new set of teeth and a woolly aid of palka dot clothes, trimmed with a white vest. He looked to be about 18 and not one second older, and the ladies all smiled as he passed them by. While standing at Fourth and Green telling a party of friends how it was that he happened to write Mollie Darling, the colonel seemed and blew the lower row of new teeth 40 feet into the opposite gutter; and there arose a yell, I will draw the certain—(Waterways Journal).

is about to close.

FOUND LONG LOST BROTHER.

Accidentally Meets Him in a Barber Shop
After a Separation of 15 Years.

L. R. Howell, of Minneapolis, who recently paid a visit to the Pacific coast and passed through Denver on his way home, was rewarded for stopping here by finding a long-lost brother. Frank Howell, who runs a barber shop in Arapahoe street, is the brother in question. It has been 19 years since the brothers have seen each other, and the last heard from Frank Howell by his relatives was in 1887, when he was following his periodical occupation in Las Vegas, N. M. Mr. Howell, from Minneapolis, in the course of his wanderings, dropped into the barber shop on Arapahoe street to be shaved. Before he entered the shop he noticed the name "Howell" above the door, and while the latter was being shaved, he looked up and saw the man who had undertaken the job of shaving him, and remarked on the similarity of the name above the door and his own. "Yes," said the barber, "my name is Howell."

"What is your first name?" asked the customer in the chair.

"Frank Howell," said the barber.
The man in the chair sat bolt upright, and, turning around, stared the barber in the face. At the same moment signs of recognition beamed forth in the faces of both. They were brothers, who had not seen each other for 19 years, and no wonder they did not recognize at first. The shave was finished, but during its progress there was time to find out the reasons why Frank Howell had been so long separated from his own people. Early in the year 1887 he was living at Las Vegas and was hearing regularly from his folks at Greenville, Mich. He decided to move to another city, and did so. He wrote his folks from there, but never received an answer to his letter. His folks moved out of Greenville at the same time he left Las Vegas, and the letters which were written failed to connect at either end. Search has been prosecuted for the lost brother to no avail, and he had also endeavored to find out the whereabouts of his family. Howell left for Minneapolis hearing the glad news to his parents that the lost boy had been found.—Denver News.

NEW POSTAGE STAMPS.

Artistic Designs Issued for New Zealand Use.

A new set of postage stamps has just been issued by the New Zealand government. They are printed in the softest color, and are a credit to the artistry of the colony.

The special interest of the fresh is due to the fact that they depict the scenery and characteristic products of the country, a feature which so many philatelists and others desire to see on their own stamps.

The halfpenny stamp contains a picture of Aorangi or Mount Cook, the highest peak in New Zealand.
The five shilling stamp also gives a larger and more beautiful representation of that same mountain. The scene on the penny stamp is a view across Lake Taupo, the largest lake in the north island, together with the active volcanoes of Tongariro and Ngauruhoe, which rise near it. The twopenny and two shilling stamps both give scenes in the famous woods or forests of southwestern New Zealand.

THE ROYAL
BAKING
POWDER
MADE IN ENGLAND

The blue 24 penny stamp, which so long as the present postal rates continue is likely to be that most often seen in England, represents the southern end of Lake Wakatipu, in the south island, and the snowy heights of Mount Earnslaw rising beyond it.
The fourpenny and ninepenny stamps attempt to depict the pink and white terraces destroyed in the eruption of 1886. The fivepenny is intended to be a representation of the lovely three gorge, the principal pass across the southern Alps.

The design of the threepenny stamp gives a pair of the sacred hula birds, the fathers of which were worn in the hair of the Maori chiefs alone.
On the sixpenny stamp appears the well-known apterix or kiwi, and on the one shilling an exceedingly well-executed parrot of New Zealand forest.
A Maori war canoe is figured on the eightpenny stamp, surrounded by the fronds of a tree fern and other foliage.
